My grandfather started the business in 1973. He immigrated here from Italy. Now it's me and my dad. We get a lot of families come - dads come in who I sold a bike to when they were in university; now they come with their kid to buy their first bike.

U
Your LOCAL GUIDE TO
KENSINGTON

Kensington's around-the-clock energy is tightly linked to its colourful mix of locals, entrepreneurs, students, educators and workers who come together to create a diverse community that beats to its own cultural drum.

In Kensington, you can grab a coffee from your favourite barista, get your bike or vintage car tuned at the local repair shop, indulge in zingy Portuguese chicken or buy authentic Chilean empanadas – all just a stroll down the road. As Kensington embraces a dynamic future, there's no better time to shop local and get to know everyone that makes up this humming, tight-knit neighbourhood.

Kensington boasts the best of Sydney's outdoor culture alongside a healthy dose of city-style convenience. It is the gateway to world renowned sporting venues and parklands, and home to internationally acclaimed learning institutions NIDA (National Institute of Dramatic Art) and the University of NSW. Each day Kensington draws together a vibrant mix of local residents, business owners, students, professors, artists and actors to create a truly unique part of Sydney.

So, what are you waiting for?

Read on for your handy guide to everything you need to know about your local businesses and get ready to explore Kensington!

Jesse and I are the team behind J&T Espresso. We have been mates since we were in primary school, and we've always had a dream of setting something up together. Jesse just loves to talk to people, he loves to make a community. We have a whole list of regulars who come in every day: locals, business owners and pretty much all of Kensington Public School turns up at 11am, during recess. We make a point of knowing everyone's name.

We have two kinds of customers - locals who come for lunch, and customers who come from all over Sydney for our Chilean sweets and breads. Some drive from the North Shore to stock up for a party. It's not that common to find Chilean food in Sydney and for 40 years we've been the main providers - we were the first ones making these types of specialities in Sydney.

If you use public transport in Sydney, Light Rail will make your life much easier. Sydney's new light rail is set to provide more reliable public transport, plus increased capacity for customers - and it's key to the future of transport in Sydney.

Not only that - it's a sustainable transport option that will reduce greenhouse gases and provide clean, efficient travel. Hop on the light rail and you can get to parks, education facilities, hospitals, sporting arenas and the CBD in one easy trip. The CBD and South East Light Rail, combined with a redesigned bus network, will take care of the transport needs of the South East community now and into the future. To find out more and sign up for regular news visit mysydney.nsw.gov.au
